Comments: I haven't written a note in some time and often can't get in to the guestbook. I thought of you each on Veterans day as every other day and will until I die or completely loose my mind. I'm thankful for you each. I was in Hawaii for Veterans day and attended the respects at the Punchbowl Cemetery Oahu. Very moving complete with many dignataries and a fly over. I was able to visit Schofield our 25th HQ on at least three occasions and saw many of the brick's with your and some of those who were KIA Vietnam. I wish I could afford to have all your names written there with the 2/12th.I was able to visit with some of our current soldiers-they are very thankful for what Vietnam Vets have done for them and have great respect for us. God bless you each. Heroes forever!! Don't forget the past as we press on for a better tomorrow!!!

Veterans Day

As a Veteran this day means a lot to me, as not only I am a proud Vietnam Veteran, but I lost my Dad on this day November 11, 2002. It will always be a day of celebration and a day of remembrance, a sad but also happy day for me. As I and all who served reflect on all we went through serving this great Country of ours, we also must remember those we lost whether on the battle field or here at home. For they had a deep love and pride for this nation too. Just to know you served to protect the freedoms we so cherish in this Nation has a special place in our hearts and theirs.

My Dad was color blind (red and green were the only colors besides gray and black he could see) so was not able to serve in the armed forces during World War II, but gave up his livelihood to serve the war effort here at home, out in San Diego in the bomber plant. He was just as proud to have served his country here at home as you and I. Those of us that served in times of war, here or abroad have formed a deep bond and love not only for each other, but our Country and the freedoms it stands for. Whether they wore a uniform or not they still showed a great love for freedom, liberty and all our flag stands for.

So Stand Proud on this Veterans Day and know you deserve to be considered one of America's best, Be Proud that you can say I'm a Veteran or "I'm a Vietnam Vet " for we fought the hard fight and did not run or hide. We did not turn our back when our nation called. We stood up to say Freedom is worth fighting for and we will never give it up.

When you unfurl your flag and proudly display it just as my Dad did every day for 57 years when he came back to Nebraska in 1945, know that others that did not serve will be doing the same this day. Their love for that flag and our country can never match the pride and what we who served it feel for it. Stand Tall and Fly it High knowing You served it well and are not ashamed to have shed your blood, sweat and a tear for it and your fellow soldiers and fellow Americans.

On this day we turn to our thoughts and love for those we served with, some who we have not been able to say Welcome Home or shake their hand and embrace them. I pray some how, some day, God willing we will find them and bring them back into our family. I say to you and someday to them, I am Proud to have served with you. You will be forever in my heart. May God Bless You and Yours "WELCOME HOME BROTHER" have a happy Veterans Day.

Please remember those who continue the fight and are in harms way, and pray they will come home safely to their families and their country "The United States of America".

I was always asking buddies for the negatives from the photos they took. I was an RTO, fire-team leader, and stayed in trouble a lot with NCO's because of my 19-year-old smart mouth. Maybe I have matured a little since 'Nam. I hope to hear from some of you guys. Welcome home, brothers.

Comments: July 4th 2009

Here it is another 4th of July to celebrate the freedoms we have grown to love and cherish. The fight for freedom and liberty came at such a high price over the years, a price we are still paying today. The value of freedom and liberty has not diminished, but continues to grow and has been proved worth the cost.

I am proud to have been part of that fight and to have stood next to you, to spread that valuable gift of freedom and liberty to those who have not achieved it. Sure it is a hard fight, that I, many of you and others gave our blood, and some even their lives on the battlefield for. A fight that does not always end in total victory, but there always remains a spark or glimmer of hope that someday will ignite. It is our duty as a free nation to stand against any, who would take anyones freedom away and help to create that spark.

I thank God for each of you, knowing he surrounded me with the best. Few know or understand the bond those of us who served developed in the time we spent together. It will last forever, even though we are far apart, that bond remains in our hearts and minds. I think of those who served everyday, knowing some are still fighting in their minds even though their body has left the battlefield years ago. Some are fighting the guilt, stress and diseases they came home with. The cancer that is now showing up or injuries they received that are keeping them from a normal life after their service. I'm thinking of those we are still looking for. Hoping and praying we will find them and welcome them back into our family of brothers. All should still be proud to have fought for the freedom and liberty we are celebrating today.

So "Celebrate", but also take a moment and remember why we are celebrating. Let the love of freedom and liberty always remain in our souls. Be proud to be an American and never apologize for this nation, its people and its fight for freedom and justice for all. For Freedom and Liberty is the change we need to preserve here and to be fought for throughout the world.

God Bless You and Your Family
God Bless America

Comments: Memorial Day 2009

12th Infantry Regiment
"Ducti Amore Patriae"
(Having Been Led by Love of Country)

As we celebrate another Memorial Day, I hope you will not dwell on the loss of our band of brothers, who were our family away from home, our friends, but celebrate the many memories of good times spent with them. We can't bring them back, but we can keep them alive by filling our hearts and minds with their love, smiles and laughter that we grew to know. The bond we developed over the days, weeks, months and if we were lucky the years, has reached deep into our souls and will never leave us. Knowing them for such a short time does not diminish our love for them, for each of us knows we are better for it.

Even as we have come back into each others lives over the years, it has brought back memories of those days spent with them. Memories we had pushed deep in the back of our minds, of those we lost, some bad, but most are good. Those good times are the ones we should be celebrating this day.

When you say a word of prayer or just take a moment in silence on this Memorial Day, let their memory bring comfort and joy to your heart, that they were and still are a part of your life you will always cherish. They were there when we needed them, with their smiles and laughter. Cheering us up after a hard day in the boonies, a long firefight or a sleepless night. We would joke about the hard times we just went through, the ants, leeches, bugs, bees, heat, rain, bullets flying around or whatever challenge we faced that day or night. They would help ease the pain of what we had just gone through and it is our turn to keep those good memories alive.

So let us celebrate having known and loved them as the brothers they are. While I look fondly back and remember each of them and how much they still mean to me, I will also remember each one of you that served this great country of ours. I will celebrate knowing each of you made an impact in the lives of all Americans over the years you served. You also brought a smile to someones face and laughter to their heart and soul in those tough times.

So on this Memorial Day, I will remember them, but will also pause and say a prayer for each of you for serving this great country and all the good memories you have blessed your fellow brothers with. I pray we will create many more good memories over the years to come. That we always be the band of brothers, "family" I feel each of you are.

I did wind up making a career of it and remained in the Army until I retired in Oct 1988. Of all my assignments through those years my time spent with the 2/12 were the times I cherish the most and there are few days pass that I don't reflect back to those days. Many good days, and as you all know, some extremely sad days because we lost to many great soldiers. Our lives are all better because our paths crossed at that point and time and we have memories most others can't comprehend. My e-mail address is wiggins76@aol.com

Comments:	I was in HQ DET 2/12th from October 1967 to May 1968 when I was wounded. My first job was RTO for the Battalion S-2. My second job was that of Battalion photographer, were most of you may remember me. I was in the CP for the Battle of Loc Ninh. That was my first fire fight. I only recently found out about this site through a chance meeting in the LA Commissary with Nick, who got me in touch with the 25th Infantry site and Ken (Doc) Blakely, Larry Hamilton and Ed Bethea. It was great to reminisce about the 2/12th and send out what pictures I have. Since that time I have lost my father, a WWII veteran, and hosted my daughters wedding. Life goes on and thanks to the internet I have found old friends.

Comments: I had sent the following message on Memorial Day to my Brothers, I have been in contact and seen over the last few years. I was encouraged to enter it into the guestbook for others to read, that maybe they would reachout to their Family the 2nd/12th and find peace, love and releash from their demons.

Remembering on Memorial Day

12th Infantry Regiment
"Ducti Amore Patriae"
(Having Been Led by Love of Country

It has been 40 years since, we began that year long journey through rice paddies, rubber trees and the jungle of Vietnam. It has etched the good times, along with the bad into our hearts and minds. Some of those memories we are happy to embrace, while others we push to the deep dark corners of our minds and hope they never come out into the light. This Memorial Day, I hope you will not only remember family and friends you have lost through the years, but remember those we lost over there in Vietnam. Not only our brothers who paid the highest price our Country could ask us to pay ( that we all were willing to pay) for the love of freedom and our Country. But also those we have lost since returning, who we have not been able to find. They are out there somewhere, wanting to be found, but afraid to seek out others. Not knowing how to search or the fear of the memories it might bring back they are trying to surpress. For I know how it hurts to be out there, knowing my brothers are out there somewhere, but having lost contact with you. Wanting to renew friendships, but not knowing what emotions would surface, or how we would feel. It has been such a blessing to have been found again and received with such love. If we only knew how to reach them and let them know how good it is to be back in our family of brothers again. So this Memorial Day I will not only remember and thank God for all of You, for having been and being a part of my life still. I will remember those we have not found and are still searching for, to bring home to our family once again.

With love in my heart for each of you, I call you Friend, Brother and Family.

Have a Great Memorial Day!

God Bless
BIA

Comments:	12th Infantry Regiment  "Ducti Amore Patriae"  (Having Been Led by Love of Country) On this Veterans Day I would like to say "Thank You" for your service to this Great Nation of Ours. It has truly been an Honor to have served as you have. There have always been brave men and women who are willing to stand up for not only their freedom and love of God and Country, but for the rights and freedom of others. You my brothers are in that category. I feel a love and bond for life, for each of you that will never be broken. We must also remember and say a prayer of thanks to those who did not return, and those who have left us since returning, but are still forever in our hearts. As we were asked to serve, they also served and paid the ultimate price and we will be eternally grateful. Please remember those who continue the fight and are in harms way, and pray they will come home safely to their families. Again Thank You

Comments:	I would like to make a couple of comments. I'm very grateful to Ray Cassidy for putting this site together and for funding it. I have tried to contact Ray from 3 e mail addreses I have for him and no response. I have called him and left messages and no response. This is unlike Ray. I'm also grateful to who ever took the bull by the horn and got it back up. I had considered making another site as I was doing when Ray contacted me about making this one. I had no expierence in web design so it was perfect. I asked Paul North if he had heard from Ray because they also had visited priot to Ray making this site. He tried to contact Ray Cassidy as well but no response. Again thank you whoever got this back up and if you need help to keep it going contact me please.

Comments: 2nd Platoon Leader, Company D, 2/12th, Feb-June 1968. Sure have enjoyed reading all about all you warriors. Only good thing about that time is that I still don't believe we could be so dirty and smell so bad, and still live and operate so well. Thanks so much for all your service.
